Sir William Burrough Primary School is an ambitious community school that joined the Trust in February 2024 showing its commitment to continuous improvement through shared resources as part of the strong UST school network.

The school has one and half forms of entry with 385 spaces for children from Nursery to Year 6. The school prides itself in being a happy school with a strong community ethos built on strong relationships between pupils and staff.

UST is a partnership of schools, universities, and public and private sector bodies. We are uniquely placed to change the educational landscape for the pupils, staff, parents and wider communities whom we serve.

Established in September 2016, UST currently comprises four member schools located in two London Boroughs:

St Paul's Way School (SPW) 3 - 18 all-through school in Tower Hamlets

Royal Greenwich Trust School (RGTS) 11 - 18 secondary school in Greenwich

Cyril Jackson Primary School (CJPS) 3 - 11 primary school in Tower Hamlets

Sir William Burrough Primary School (SWB) 3 - 11 primary school in Tower Hamlets

We are a group of schools with strong, mutually impactful relationships - this is key to our success and underpins our strong appetite for growth.

We are committed to empowering communities, improving social justice and breaking barriers for social mobility, and have a particular focus on reducing the attainment gap for those who are amongst the most disadvantaged in our society.

UST has a proud record of strong school improvement, one that is in a strong financial position and an appetite to grow beyond its current size. This makes us the perfect place for those looking to explore new opportunities and build a varied career.
